Please write some comments about what you think of the exercise where you had to prepare questions to another entrepreneur and then meet and ask them those questions?

Very productive to learn a little bit more about entrepreneurship

It was a bit weird because we asked people who didn't speak English at all. But the guy from the sweet shop was very nice and helped us a lot.

I really don't know.

Entrepreneurs were very friendly and gave us a look in their business life. We got really much of probably very important information.

I wasn't there either.

I think is the best way to know the real labor market in Sweden.

It was the best we could make instead of going to Toyota, good choice.

It is good in terms of employment.

really interesting to talk to the entrepreneurs especially the sweet chocolate store owner

The exercise was interesting enough, but I come with some hints. We could improve it by preparing technical questions in some previous sessions about more math or IT solutions, accounting, legal permissions required... the different groups could specialize in one of the topics mentioned and go deeper into the content. Then, in another session, the students should explain what they learned to the rest.

why did you choose this location for your business?

That's the best way to know the way to begin a business here.
